

CONTEMPORARY REVOLVERS

Revolvers had been gradually replaced by pistols during the 20th century. Despite their small ammunition capacity, they have several advantages which keep them in existence in the year 2020. Their simple and sturdy mechanism, had predisposed them to usage of very powerfull bullets, like the .44 magnum. That's why, when you are looking for a cheap and very heavy weapon on the black market of 2020, you'll have to search a old revolver.

This strange revolver, built sometime in the 1990s, is chambered for the 9 mm Parabellum cartridge and it's six round cylinder is hinged at the top of the frame rather than the bottom. The M207's hexagonal barrel is lined up with the bottom-most chamber for greater accuracy and the weapon's strange design is counter-balanced by a top mounted weight. It should be noted that the Mateba's greatest feature is its accuracy. Unfortunately, it is not as quick or as high powered as most automatics. Additionally, its design causes problems with loading, making it less than an ideal choice in situations where a lot of ammo is being expended. Features ergonomic grips and interchangeable barrels.
